Great White Way—There is little question now but that the "Great White Way" will be a reality in Ogden by July 4. Information has been received by Manager P. D. Kline of the Rapid Transit company that the iron poles were shipped from the factory May 26. They should arrive in Ogden 12 days after, June 7, which will give ample time for the installation of the system by the first of July.

ing complaints that he had followed two girls on Wednesday night, pleaded not guilty in police court this morning and asked that his trial be set for Tuesday as he wished to secure witnesses. His bond was fixed at $100 by Judge Reader. John O'Leary, charged with trespass pleaded guilty and his case was taken under advisement. O'Leary stated that he was occupying a position on the "blind baggage" when arrested. Frank Robinson of electric light globe notoriety, asked that his trial be set for Tuesday and his request was granted.

NORTH WEBER CELEBRATES THE DAY

The second annual field day of the North Weber Stake Mutual Improvement association, which was held yesterday at Farr West, proved an occasion of splendid recreation to nearly one thousand persons, mainly members of the competing associations.
The track meet, which held the field for the major portion of the afternoon, was well arranged and carried out with excellent precision by those in charge. A commendable feature of the meet was the spirit of true sportsmanship displayed by the young contestants, in their manner of accepting defeat or victory, a fact which speaks well for the training given them in the regular meetings of the branch associations in the stake.

Demonstrating the value of consis-ent physical training, both the senior and junior pennants were carried off by the athletes of the Lynne ward, with a total of 56 and 30 points respectively. The highest individual point winners were Owen Sherwood of the Lynne seniors who scored 15 points, and Harold Bramwell of the juniors who scored 23 points. One of the feature events, the Junior relay race, was won by Davis, W. Wilkinson, E. Wilkinson and Joseph Deis, composing the Third Ward team. The Senior relay race was won by the Lynne team uncontested.

The senior events and point winners were as follows:

One Hundred Yard Dash.

1. C. Bramwell, Lynne, 4.

2. Owen Sherwood, Lynne, 3.

3. Clyde Leavitt, Lynne, 2.

3. Harold Bramwell, Lynne, 2.

Relay Race.

1. Third Ward, 4.

2. Lynne, 3.

3. Marriott, 2.

Following the track meet, a sevep-inning game of baseball was played by the Farr West and Third Ward teams, the decision going to the latter by the score of 7 to 2. The game was fairly interesting, though the Third Warders were not playing in their usual good form. An injury to Greenwell, the star pitcher of the Third ward team, who strained his right side during the third inning, caused the shifting of Young to the mound, Greenwell going to third base.
The Farr West batters found Young's delivery equally hard to solve, and succeeded in getting only one man around in the remaining four innings.
The lineups were as follows:

Third Ward.

Davis, ss.; Stewart, lf.; Beckett, 3b.

LOGAN'S FIRE ENGINE IS A SUCCESS

Before a critical audience composed of fire chiefs, councilmen, mayors and others, the big auto fire engine of the Logan fire department was tested out in Ogden this morning by C. E.
Raynes, a demonstrator of the first engine builders, and N. P. Corneli, the company's agent.

Pumping tests showed the water was drawn from the fountain in the Central park and an additional test where the water supply was a city hydrant, were made and the machine did what was guaranteed and more. In the park the machine forced through two 100-foot lines of hose and a one and one-half inch nozzle, 792 gallons of water per minute. Through a two-inch nozzle with 60 pounds nozzle pressure, the pump forced 900 gallons per minute.

At the Reed hotel a hose was connected from street hydrant to the standpipe and the water mains, without the pump, produced a pressure of only 30 pounds on the roof of the hotel and only 150 gallons of water passed from the hose per minute. When the water from the hydrant was forced through by the fire engine pump the pressure on the roof of the hotel was increased to 105 pounds, and the water was discharged from the nozzle at the rate of 375 gallons per minute.

Running to capacity, the pump delivered 200 gallons of water per minute in excess of what is guaranteed by the makers.

Chief A. B. Canfield was acquainted with what the engine can do at the local commission that one believer in the city he proposes to follow up his recommendation at an early date.

Besides, the interested officials who had come from out of town to see the engine demonstrated, there was a large crowd of the curious on hand.

From the appearance of the engine it is difficult to see where the power is located. At a glance it could easily be mistaken for Ogden's combination auto, but, in place of the chemical tank on the Ogden machine the rotary pump is on the Logan engine. The pump is operated by direct connection with the transmission from the 165 horse power gasoline motor which runs the big auto also.

Although the machine was new and received its first good warming up in Ogden, the entire tests were made without a hitch in the machinery.

Much amusement was furnished to those on the streets near the Reed hotel corner when the streams were being turned on the roof. The force of the water after the pump had been attached was so much greater than when the hose was connected with the hydrant alone, that sightseers who occupied comfortable seats in the park were drenched when the pump was put in operation. The spray that fell from the hose was welcomed by teamsters who walked their horses through the imitation rainstorm and enjoyed the refreshing shower. This was not true of the autoists some of whom, mistaking what was really a heavy downpour for a slight spray, attempted to pass under the stream and received such a drenching that it was necessary to get a change of clothing.

Those who came from outside to see the demonstration were told that Mayor R. S. Fishburn, Chief W. S.
Taylor, Councilman N. E. Mortensen, and P. C. Jensen, all of Brigham; Chief Thomas Reid of Rawlins, Chief Fred Smith of Logan; Chief G. W.
Loveless of Provo.

Commissioner T. S. Browning was on hand and he carefully went over the mechanism, watching each part of the big machine operate.

The state board of underwriters from Salt Lake failed to appear for the test this morning. The members intended to come up this afternoon but the car will be shipped to Logan and it is probable that further tests will be made at that point.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MORRIS—The 8-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe R. Morris died at 11:15 a. m. today at the home, 130 25th street, of infantile paralysis, after an illness of six weeks. Funeral announcements will be made later.

CROWTHERS—Funeral services for Mrs. Walter Crowthers will be held at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in the Second ward meeting house. The casket will be open at the home, 2839 Lincoln avenue, from 6 to 9 p. m. tonight, and from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The act of consecration was impressed by Miss Nora Dunne 13, after which Rev. John Ryan addressed the young ladies who had acquired themselves so creditably and in a well-prepared and exceedingly well delivered sermon, he taught all the significance of this beautiful ceremony and urged each and every devotee of the immaculate queen to follow her example, and to keep ever as their model that

"Woman above all women glorified, Our talented nature's solitary boast."

Benediction of the most blessed sacrament finished the evening's devotion, and the exceedingly large audience left the church, marvelling at the depth and beauty to be found in the Catholic faith.

Enoch Madsen, a maltster employed by the Becker Brewing company, who resides at 149 North Washington avenue, was arrested this afternoon and was held at the city jail upon the complaint of his wife and daughter.
According to information secured from the police, the wife claims that Madsen tried to choke her and threatened to burn down the house. The arrest was made at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Patrolman John Russell.

The police believe that Madsen was either crazy or drunk, but the man claimed to be sober although he had been drinking. When locked in the jail he cried and asked that his hitherto good reputation be investigated before he be confined.

Cocoanut Grove, Fla. Decoration Day, 1913

MY BELOVED HELEN: This is a wonderful day, a marvelous age in which we are living. The papers you sent me from Ogden are wonderfully interesting. When you are away from home, everything takes on new life and sometimes trivial things become thrilling. I note every few days a very interesting account purporting to be a testimonial of some worthy citizen's unqualified endorsement of Plant Juice. My curiosity is awakened; I wonder the source of these unending chains of testimonials. I happen to know some of the good people thus thrust into prominence; I wish you would see Geo. Shorten and ask him to buy a bottle of Plant Juice and if he has room on the top of his desk to make a chemical analysis and publish his findings. I know George and will pay for the trouble and expense. Once I bought a gingham dress of George when he owned the wash goods counted in the Ogden Z. C. M. I., and Geo. don't lie.
He said it wouldn't fade. It took it home and washed it with some home-made soap, which I made from concentrated lye, and it didn't phase it. You can depend on George. We serenely wait his report. In the meantime I hope Dad will survive without having to take any Plant Juice.

It's all right to wear serpentine crepe, but beware lest George find a serpent in the Plant Juice. I certainly am feeling fine today, and cannot express the feeling of love I have for Y'all. Ever your fond MOTHER.

Boys and Girls

Most everyone of you wear stockings: most everyone of you like to go to the picture show and see the moving pictures, FREE. Every boy or girl who buys a 25c pair of hose here will be given a free ticket to the picture show this week. And believe us on this iron-clad assertion that we will give you as good a pair of hose as you ever bought for 25c. You can prove this by comparison. That is good logic isn't it; Tickets good up to 12 years old.

If you want to get all there is in it for your money, spend it at the

PAINE & HURST STORE WHERE THE WOMEN TRADE were brought to an impressive close last evening when about two hundred children and young ladies of the parish, prettily attired in white gowns and veils, marched in solemn procession from Sacred Heart academy to the church. Here a large number of curious spectators and ardent lovers of the May Queen had gathered to witness a truly beautiful and inspiring sight that of crowning the statue or Our Lady with a wreath of flowers.

To the slow and majestic strains of the "Priest's March" played by Miss Krauss at the organ, the long procession entered the church with two young ladies in the lead bearing an exquisite hand-painted banner of the Virgin Queen. When the march had proceeded half way down the aisle, every nook and corner of the church seemed suddenly to resound with the beautiful words of the hymn, "Tis the Month of Our Mother," which burst forth in chorus of song from the smallest tot to the most dignified young lady. This singing continued, as the procession wended its way around the church, until after the crowning of the queen which was gracefully performed by Miss McNulty, assisted by Miss O'Neill.

Words are poor instruments to express the beauty of the May altar where the crowning took place, and the generally accepted opinion of the on-lookers was that it had never looked so beautiful. One glance at the snowy altar, replete with the choicest flowers that bountiful nature could afford, told of the untiring love and unfailing devotion of Mary's faithful subjects. The effectiveness of the scene was enhanced considerably by an unique electrical placard, suspended directly over the Blessed Mother's statue, bearing the words, "Ave Maria," skillfully wrought in gold lights. This was the work of a promising electrician, Bernard Baumann, Graceful strands of smilax were artistically draped from above, and terminated at Mary's feet where a brilliantly lighted crescent gave a soft and pearly lustre to surrounding objects. A myriad of iridescent lamps, reminded one of shining stars as they twinkled now red, now yellow, all seeming to delight in being allowed the privilege of burning at Mary's shrine. This, together with the lights from numerous wax tapers, completed the pretty picture, making a scene worthy of the poet's pen or the artist's brush.

13, after which Rev. John Ryan ad-
